Upper Cut Media House Ltd. Announces the World's 101 Best Steak Restaurants for 2024

London, May 2024 – Upper Cut Media House, a distinguished media company headquartered in London, has proudly released its latest edition of the World's 101 Best Steak Restaurants ranking for 2024. This esteemed list, a much-anticipated annual event since its inception by Ekkehard Knobelspies in 2019, celebrates the pinnacle of steak dining across the globe.

For the second consecutive year, Parrilla Don Julio in Buenos Aires has clinched the top spot, a testament to its continued excellence in offering authentic world class Argentinean cuisine. This prestigious establishment, led by owner Pablo Rivero and Executive Chef Guido Tassi, showcases the finest Aberdeen Angus and Hereford beef, sourced from its own sustainable breeding programs. The restaurant's commitment to short transport routes, extensive farming, and natural grass feeding elevates its beef as well as the entire restaurant to an unparalleled quality level.

Following on No. 2 is Bodega El Capricho in Spain, securing a fantastic second position. Owner José Gordón was also awarded with the Lifetime Achievement Award, recognising his significant contributions to the culinary world. The third position has been awarded to restaurant Margaret by Neil Perry in Sydney, marking its debut as the highest new entry on the list.

This year's evaluation covered over 850 steak restaurants worldwide, reflecting notable improvements in meat quality, cooking methods, and customer service. The rise of European steakhouses, with their innovative aging techniques and "farm to fork" concepts, has been particularly prominent, challenging the traditional dominance of classic American steak establishments from former years.
